THE DATA SOURCE HANDBOOK

PURPOSE

Since the California State Data Center has been in existence, it has developed a network of data providers in federal, state, and private agencies. The Data Source Handbook is an effort to share this list of data providers with other data users.

The Handbook covers subject areas that are related to the people of California. It is by no means an exhaustive list nor should the inclusion of a source be considered an endorsement by the State of California. Private data sources are included to give researchers additional choices for subject areas. Individual data users should be aware that some providers and some content areas may charge fees. One of the requirements for inclusion in the Handbook, however, is that some of the data provided must be available to the public free of charge.

This edition was prepared by the State Data Center staff. Updates, revisions, corrections, and comments should be directed to:
