Comments/Historical Information Chapter 1826, Statutes of 1953 established this fund and amended by Chapter 1284, Statutes of 1968 which added the Physical Therapy Practice Act to the code. The act combined two former chapters in the code governing the separate licensing and regulation of Registered and Licensed Physical Therapists into one chapter and under one regulatory body. In the early 1970's physical therapist assistants [1971] and physical therapy aides [1973] were authorized by the Physical Therapy Practice Act to perform specific physical therapy tasks under the supervision of a licensed physical therapist. Physical therapist assistants did not gain title protection until 1997. The Physical Therapy Board of California administers this fund within the Department.
